

ALISS Bulletin May 2022

Welcome to our first ALISS bulletin. These bulletins will give you an update on the work we are doing to make community groups, voluntary organisations, and community-based services easily findable for staff, carers, and people who may want to access them. We will also be spotlighting new and existing groups to give people an idea of the range of groups that are out there and this month the Campbell Street OAP Club are featured.

We hope you find the information useful and if you have any questions or would like us to come out and speak to you about ALISS, please contact us at

ALISS – A Local Information System for Scotland

ALISS <https://www.aliss.org/> makes it easier to find information about local groups, activities, and support in communities.

We have been working with people living and working in Renfrewshire's communities to find information and add it to ALISS so people can access it.

Before the pandemic we had information on 600 resources across Renfrewshire and to date we have confirmed that 250 resources are up and running again. We are working to add more every day.

Spotlight

The Campbell Street OAP Club meets in the village hall in Elderslie. The Club meets every Tuesday and is an opportunity for older people to get together to chat, meet new people and enjoy booked entertainers. The Club organises different events around the year including bus outings. The Club currently has 50 members and is always looking for new ones. The Club recently welcomed back its members and Margaret from the Club said "people missed the club when it wasn't able to meet due to the pandemic. We are delighted to welcome people back and look forward to welcoming new members".
